

For Immediate Release

Wake Forest, NC April 1, 2006: Vice President Sales & Marketing, Steven P. Mattingly, Southern Lithoplate and Mr. Jay Frizzo, President, PAXTON MEDIA Newspaper Division announce multi-site Computer-to-Plate Agreement.

"Southern Lithoplate has been our sole plate supplier for nearly 15 years. Our first formal CtP discussion with Southern Litho was on May 20th of 2004. Now, after two years of diligent research, we have made the decision to go CtP with a company we trust and look forward to growing with. We have selected a full system solution sourced for us by Southern Litho. Our first site is the Owensboro Messenger-Inquirer. They have chosen the best in class solution of the PlateRite News 2000 coupled with Southern Litho's VIPER® 830 CtP lithoplates," stated Frizzo.

"Over the years, we have grown to know our lithoplate customers and their particular needs quite well. In working with Bob Morris, Publisher, and Mike Weafer, Production Director, of the Messenger-Inquirer, it became clear they wanted a superior ROI. They also specified a workflow that simplified prepress for themselves and their customers and a system to virtually eliminate press registration issues. Now, based on two years of diligent research and the formation of several strategic partnerships announced today at NEXPO 2006, we are pleased to provide PAXTON with a powerful turnkey CtP solution that is totally affordable," stated Mattingly.
